GERRY BOT COWABUNGA REPORT · WED NOV 4 · NORTH PB

It is a notch bigger than yesterday on a long-period west swell, so skip the heavy beach break and paddle out at Tourmaline around nine thirty as the tide drops. Surf it until Tourmaline from about 9:30 to 11:30a on the Anvil twin. Table tides: H 5.1 @ 5:54a, L 1.3 @ 12:00p, H 4.5 @ 5:47p, L 0.6 @ 11:55p. The gauge read 6.5 ft at 5:54a, about 1.5 ft over the table, so the noon low only reaches about 2.8 ft. LJAC1 was E 8 kt at 5:18a. NWS hourly has N to NW 5 mph with patchy drizzle through 9a, NW 5 mph and mostly sunny at 10a, W 5 mph at 11a and W 10 mph at noon. PZZ740 calls NW 10 kt today with a NW 4 ft at 5s wind sea, so the afternoon goes choppy.

Where it's working

Tourmaline · 9:30–11:30a

A notch bigger than yesterday: 46258 SwH 1.1–1.6 m (3.6–5.2 ft) at 14–17 seconds from the W, plus a short WNW windswell around 3 ft at 6 seconds that adds bump. That is past your fish comfort zone at the open beach. Tourmaline is the softer, more rolling wave on this stretch, and it gets better as the tide drains off the very full morning high (gauge 6.5 ft at 5:54a, about 1.5 ft over the table) toward the noon low, which reads about 2.8 ft real. NWS has NW 5 mph through 10a and W 5 mph at 11a before W 10 mph at noon. Scorecard forecast: 0.75 at 9a, 0.86 at 10:30a.

CALL

Also fine · PB north of pier, 9–11a

Top raw score (0.98 live and forecast), but the W sets will close out hard there and run head high plus. Only if Tourmaline is a zoo and you are fine with bigger sets.

ALSO OK

Blacks (extended) · beyond the fish

Live 0.99 on 46225 (SwH 3.0 ft at 15s WSW), not past the drive margin over PB north. The canyon turns a 16 second W swell into well overhead sets, so it needs a shortboard you do not own yet. Skip it on the Anvil.

BEYOND

Skip · Little Point (drowned early, then a falling tide), PB Point and Calumet on this tide, the Drive (long-period closeouts), anything after the W wind at noon.

QUIVER

Anvil twin fish

Good on the softer Tourmaline walls. The bigger W sets at the open beach or Blacks want a shortboard you do not own yet.

TW log · too much size and too crowded with logs at Tourmaline today

'IKE · ONE THING TO REMEMBER

Two swells, two jobs.

The buoy shows a 16 second W groundswell and a 6 second WNW wind sea at the same time. The long one sets the size and the power, because it moves water deep down and stands up hard on the sand. The short one rides on top and adds bump and wobble to the faces. A gentle reef like Tourmaline softens the first, and catching it before the afternoon wind keeps the second from getting worse.

SKIP

The open beach (PB north, the Drive) at the very full early tide, where the 16 second W sets close out. Little Point on a falling tide. Blacks on the Anvil. Everything once W 10 mph fills in around noon.

GOTCHAS

Size: SRF 3 to 5 ft with long-period W sets, so expect long lulls and then sets well bigger than the average. Sit wide and be patient. Texture: the 6 second WNW windswell puts some bump on the faces even with light wind. Tourmaline crowd: packed with longboards and beginners, so watch for loose boards. High rip current risk (NWS SRF). Patchy drizzle early, so give outlets some room.
